

Inigo Update

July 2006

Inigo Stars in Royal Wedding

Dermot Murnaghan poses for Giles Curtis, Inigo's MD

Castle Hill House, Inigo's Windsor Centre, was the setting for the live BBC broadcast of the wedding of the Prince of Wales to Camilla Parker-Bowles on Saturday 9 April 2005.

Castle Hill House is home to a magnificent boardroom with views over Henry VIII's Gate, the entrance to Windsor Castle. In days, Inigo and the BBC transformed the boardroom into a studio set. The table was replaced by sofas, flowers and an expanse of broadcasting equipment.

"It was fascinating to see the BBC in action and we enjoyed the challenge of accommodating a very different type of client", said Catherine Fielden, Windsor's Centre Manager.

"We were pleased to tell our customers that Castle Hill House was going to be on television" stated one Inigo client, "there was a real buzz in the building but Inigo's team ensured we were not too distracted".

Sarah Ryder, Inigo's Operations Manager, said, "It was hard work but we all enjoyed the experience, especially meeting some of the celebrity wedding guests."

By Monday morning the boardroom was hosting conventional meetings again.